Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. has presented an innovation in antiquities and numismatics for some time now. The system is simple. When you want an antiquity or coin in the sale, just bid the estimated price by phone or mail. We will send you the antiquity or coin immediately. No waiting for the closing of the sale. Any and all antiquities or coins not sold before the closing date will be sent to the highest bidder on March 29, 1989.

EXAMPLE—You bid estimate on an item valued at $100.00 and if your bid is the 1st to reach us, you will receive the item immediately. If on the other hand, you bid $75.00 on the same item and are still the high bidder at the end of the sale, the item will be mailed to you on the closing date, March 29, 1989.

If you are ever in the area, stop in and see us! Of course, it's best to call first.

FIXED PRICE

510. FREDERICK I BARBAROSSA (ca. 1123-1190)

Frederick I Barbarossa (Redbeard) was one of the most famous and important Medieval rulers. Hereditary Duke of Swabia, Frederick was elected Holy Roman Emperor in a time of extreme conflict and division in both Germany and Italy. Vigorous action led to the revival of imperial power in Germany, and his reign was everafter remembered as a golden age. Even now the legend persists that Frederick Barbarossa sits in a cavern in the Thuringian mountains awaiting until the need of the country shall call him forth.

The situation in Italy, however, was less happy. There, despite five military expeditions over the course of nearly thirty years, Frederick was unable to achieve lasting victories in his conflicts with the Pope and the Italian cities. These wars came to a conclusion when Philip of Heinsberg, Archbishop of Cologne, led a revolt in Germany at the instigation of the Pope. A settlement was reached: Philip of Heinsberg ended his revolt, and Frederick joined the Third Crusade. Crossing a Roman bridge near the ancient city of Seleucia in Cilicia, Barbarossa fell from his horse and drowned. His army fell apart disastrously after his death and few of his men ever reached home.

We offer silver pennies of Frederick I Barbarossa, Philip of Heinsberg and Bertram, Bishop of Metz, from a hoard discovered in Cilicia, only a short distance from the place of Frederick's death. Composed chiefly of German silver issues, the hoard appears to have been the personal treasury of one of Frederick's noble supporters or a portion of the imperial treasury itself. These specimens show little wear, but - as typical for these thin coins - show areas of weak striking.

- FREDERICK I BARBAROSSA, Holy Roman Emperor, 1158-1190, Aachen Mint, Silver Penny.
 511. PHILIP OF HEINSBERG, Archbishop of Cologne; 1167-1191, Silver Penny

 514. RARE ROMAN EGYPTIAN TOMB FIGURES; A group of two Egyptian painted plaster tomb servant figures. Roman period, 1st-2nd centuries A.D.. Two female figures wearing wrap-around white skirts, flesh painted realistically, hair dark brown/black. Although these figures are development of smaller figures dating back at least to the late Old Kindgom, these late manifestations show the influence of Greek and Roman naturalism in art. Minimal repairs, two arms rejoined, and small missing sections as evident in photos. Most paint intact. Mounted on lucite bases. Rare and important. 9 3/8" (23 3/4 cm) and 8 1/4" (21 cm) height. Pair 1,700

BRONZE

516. ETRUSCAN, votive miniature bronze shield; 7th century BC. Good green and brown patina over excellent metal. decorated with bands of incised hatched triangles and relief tongue pattern with incised outlines around raised central boss. such miniature weapons and armor were dedicated in temples upon the coming of age of a young warrior, the beginning, or successful conclusion of a war. Here is an opportunity to have a detailed miniature of an important item of armor unobtainable in the full scale. On lucite stand. 4 1/8" (10 1/2 cm) diameter 2,200
 517. ETRUSCAN, BRONZE BALSAMARIUM; late 3rd-2nd century B.C. Fine brown, green and sand-colored patina over pristine metal. This fine sculpture depicts a woman's head, wearing a diadem-like headpiece over an elaborate hairdo, long earrings, and a necklace or tongue with pendants. The style is somewhat archaizing, recalling earlier Etruscan work and ultimately Egytianizing influences. In addition, the piece is executed with unusual delicacy and detail, which along with the superb preservation, mark this rarity as a major antiquity. This balsamarium was item #129 of the Pomerance collection and was exhibited at the Brooklyn Museum in 1964. 4 1/4" (10 3/4 cm) height 8,500
 518. ROMAN, BRONZE HERM, employed as knife handle; 2nd century AD. Black patina with earthen highlighting. Base contains two original iron rivets and traces of knife blade. Good Roman workmanship following earlier Hellenistic Greek prototype. The head of the herm bears the features of a young male deity with elaborate headdress, probably Bacchus. The knife may have been used for an agrarian ritual, such as the pruning of the first grape vine. On lucite base. 3 5/8" (9 1/4 cm) height 1,100

GLASS

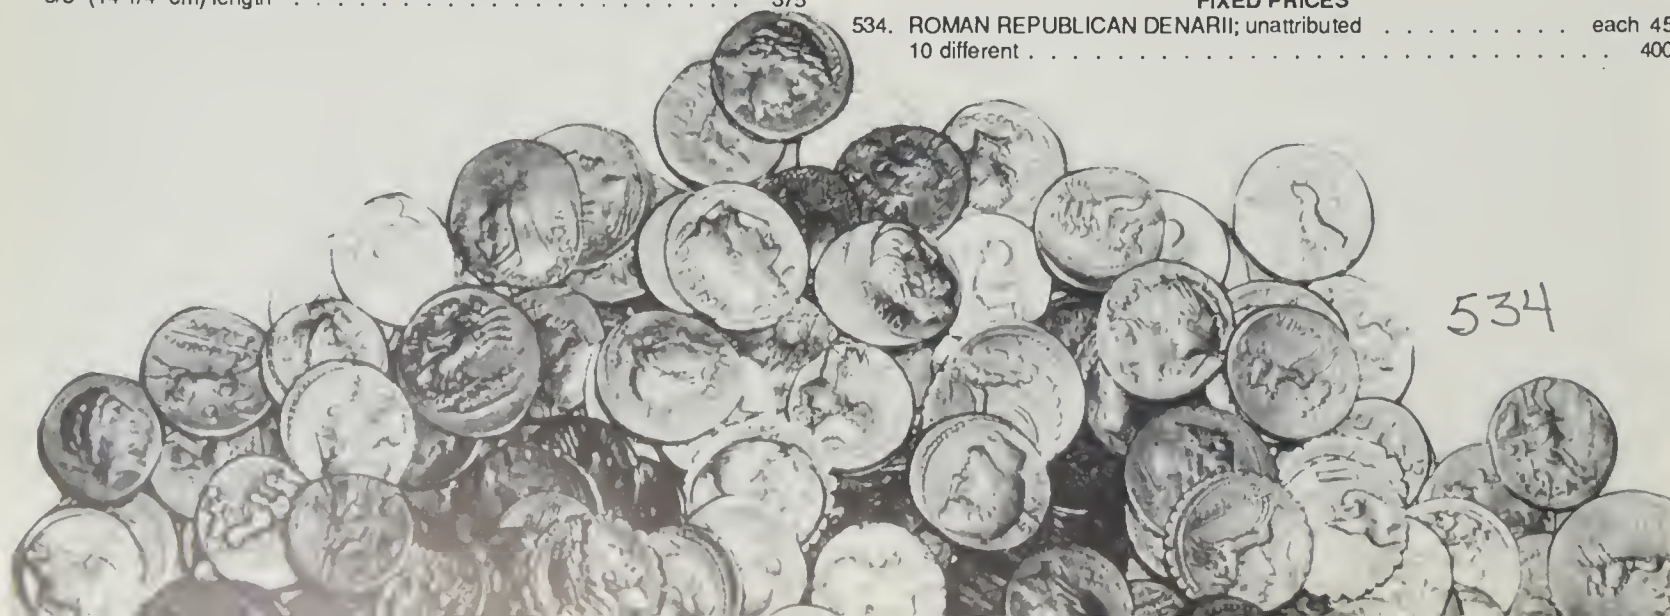

522. GREEK, SAND CORE GLASS AMPHORISKOS; 6th-4th century B.C. Completely intact. Dark blue glass with applied yellow glass bands at rim, base of neck, drawn into chevrons below handles, and five bands below chevrons. The surface of the glass is excellently preserved with slight whitish patina which does not obscure the base color decorations. Slight opalscence, chiefly on the applied foot. Worthy a discerning collector! Lucite mount. 3 1/8" (7 3/4 cm) height 2,500
 523. ROMAN, GLASS DOUBLE BALSAMARIUM; 3rd century AD. Intact. Light brown with greened tinge and areas of whitish opalescence. The balsamarium is decorated with a raised glass threat winding around the double body and flamboyant zig-zag glass thread at the rim. The rim decoration is particularly delicate, attached to the main body of the vessel only at the extremeties, but miraculously intact! Lucite mount. 4 3/8" (11 cm) height 1,100

POTTERY

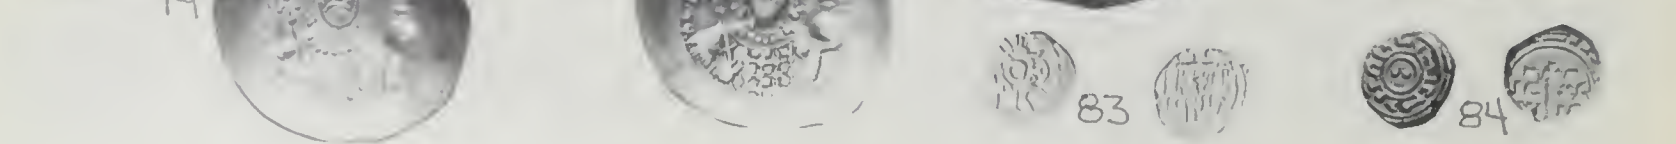

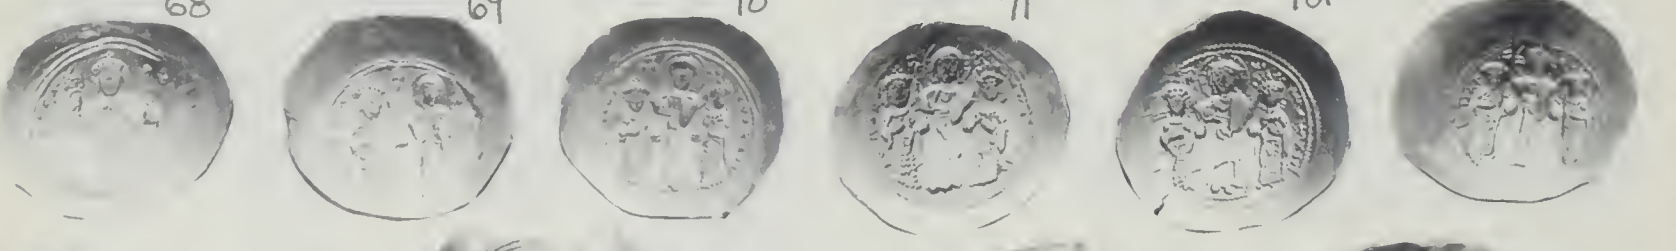

525. ATTIC BLACK FIGURE OINOCHOE; ca. 540-520 B.C. Rejoined from few large pieces, some small undecorated areas in filled beneath handle. Slight misfiring so central figure brown rather than black. Mythological scene of unusual interest. Theseus wielding double axe before decapitated head of Minotaur, flanked by two draped onlookers. A good example of archaic black figure, exhibiting clearly the roots of classical Greek religion in the distant Minoan past. 7 1/4" (18 1/2 cm) height 3,500
 526. ATTIC, SESSILE KANTHAROS, St. Valentine class; 5th century B.C. Rejoined from few large fragments. An interesting and rare vessel from Athens at the height of the classical age. 4 3/4" (12 cm) height 1,100

 530. DAUNIAN CENTRAL ITALIAN TRIBALO SINGLE HANDLE CUP; 4th century B.C. Rejoined from large fragments. Elaborate geometric decoration in red and brown paints over cream colored clay. The geometric decoration was introduced to the Daunian culture of central Italy by the Greeks in the 9th-8th centuries B.C. The Daunian folk retained and developed geometric decoration and applied to their unique vase shapes long after the Greeks had abandoned it. Attractive and moderately priced. 5 3/4" (14 1/2 cm) height, 5 1/2" (14 cm) diameter 600
 531. ROMAN, LEAD GLAZED RELIEF CUP; Augustan - late 1st century B.C./early 1st century A.D. Rejoined from two large fragments. Exterior green glaze turned in part to silvery patina over leaf and fruit decoration. Interior with yellow-green glaze. This form and decoration is also found on Augustan silver bowls. The lead glaze is elegant, attractive, but also deadly as the metal leaches into food. Some scholars have sought to trace the decline of Rome to lead poisoning from vessels such as this. 5 1/2" (14 cm) across handles 2,500
 532. GREEKS IN SOUTHERN ITALY, TERRACOTTA STATUETTE OF APHRODITE; 4th-3rd century B.C. Head reattached, otherwise intact. Slight incrustation. Such statuettes were often dedicated in temples or displayed in household shrines. This graceful example is much finer than average, worthy of prominent display then and now. 9 1/4" (23 1/2 cm) height 2,400
 533. ROMAN RELIEF, fine grain white marble; 1st-2nd century B.C. Rejoined from two large pieces. Some surface abrasions, but carving is vigorous and attractive. On billowing waves a sea monster gulps down a large fish in the center, flanked by two merman, both of whom carry ships rudders; one blows a horn while the other gestures toward the central sea monsters. The mermen in turn are flanked by dolphins. All in all, an appealing Roman marble relief with a nautical theme. 28 3/4" (73 cm) length 1,600

at our new location right in the heart of the City of Chicago. You will now find us in the Financial district of the Loop. My loyal employees have informed me that this will be our very last move!

Our move was prompted by a phobia of the wrecking ball. The entire block upon which our old "new" location was, is set for demolition. As fortune would have it, we were offered our present location which was originally known as Ben's Coin Shop, and more recently, Rarcoa. This has been a coin store since 1947 and is now the only street level numismatic location in the loop.

Coming with the location is a clientele for U.S. coins. Not being one to turn away collectors of any kind, we now handle American coins and will, on occasion, take them in trade for ancients. Please stop in and see us when you are in Chicago.

Best Wishes for 1989

Harlan
